

Meet Our Trainers - Part II

The Inland Empire Hunter Jumper Association (IEHJA) is supported by a number of professional trainers, barns and riding academies located throughout Southern California. Their programs range from beginners on lesson horses to riders new to the hunter/jumper show scene to dedicated show competitors chasing points at the county and higher circuit level to older adult riders enjoying the schooling process. No matter your riding level, horse owner or not, competitor or casual rider, IEHJA has a trainer for you. Whether you live in the San Bernardino Mountains, the deserts of Riverside, San Diego or Riverside counties or you call urban Orange and Los Angeles counties home, there is an IEHJA trainer near you.

Hunter/Jumpers

Welcome to Mountain View Farms Hunter/Jumpers North (Whitefish, Montana) Joan Romo trainer and South (Anaheim, California) Jasmine R. Wheatley trainer.

In 2017, Mountain View farms hunter/jumpers expanded from its base at the Anaheim Equestrian Center, Rancho del Rio to include training operations at the Whitefish Equestrian Center in Montana. Both locations provide an award-winning training and lesson program with Jasmine at the helm at the Anaheim barn and Joan directing a rapidly expanding program in Montana. And yes, riders do come from Montana to compete at IEHJA sanctioned shows! It is part of Mountain View Farm's mission to provide clients with out of state show experiences and opportunities.

As a team, Joan and Jasmine pride themselves in the family atmosphere at their barns and stress sportsmanship, dedication and hard work in their riders. These qualities contribute to the success of their show team. Mountain View Farms specialize in hunter, jumper and equitation riders and providing expert horse care. Retirement services are also offered at their Montana location. A breeding program with Warmblood, Quarter Horse and Thoroughbred stallion services is located there as well.

Joan can be contacted at 909-510-7134, Whitefish Equestrian Center, 555 Twin Bridge Road, Whitefish Montana. Contact Jasmine at 714- 315-5494, Anaheim Equestrian Center, Rancho del Rio, 1370 South Sanderson Ave, Anaheim CA.
