

Flying Changes welcomes your submissions. Please tell us about what's happening in your life and/or at your barn: births, deaths, engagements, job changes, new hires, marriages, new management and barn moves. Send your reports to Kim F. Miller at kimfmiller1@mac.com. Photos welcome!

Charlotte Bredahl's New USEF Role

Charlotte Bredahl has been appointed the USEF's new U.S. Dressage Development Coach, pending final contract negotiations. Bredahl will take over for the newly appointed U.S. Dressage Technical Advisor and Chef d'Equipe, Debbie McDonald, who previously held the position of Development Coach.

The role of the Development Coach is to work hand in hand with the Managing Director of Dressage, the Technical Advisor, and the Dressage Sport Committee to assist with the development of a sustainable system to produce combinations for the Dressage Elite Athlete Pathway.

The collaboration between Bredahl and McDonald has been longstanding through their work in their previous roles over the past four years, and will continue in their newly appointed positions.

January 2019 - Charlotte Bredahl becomes USEF U.S. Dressage Development Coach

Written by CRM

Thursday, 27 December 2018 23:33

[REDACTED]