Martin Collins offers limited-time special pricing on Arena Master Supreme Plus.

No matter what type of surface you choose for your arena, having the right equipment can mean all the difference in its performance and longevity. Using the wrong maintenance equipment on your arena surface can be just as harmful as choosing the wrong surface in the first place. Investing in the right arena groomer now will cost significantly less in the long run and will help the footing to last its duration.

Global equestrian footing specialists, Martin Collins USA, want to assist you with keeping your synthetic riding surface in top shape. For a limited time, Martin Collins are offering their premier Arena Master Supreme Plus® at a special price.

“At Martin Collins we fully understand the importance of arena maintenance in not only aiding an arena’s longevity but also in providing an optimum performance surface on which your horse can work,” said Glynnie Walford, CEO Martin Collins USA. “We are delighted to be able to offer our Arena Master Supreme Plus® at a special price, in order to ensure facility owners can get the most out of their synthetic riding surface.”
